DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by US Patent 6222603 (“603”).

Per claim 1, 603 teaches a liquid crystal display device comprising a pair of substrates [2a,2b], a liquid crystal inserted in an annular seal between said pair of substrates [see figure 5 and seal 11], and a threshold pattern provided in a frame portion between said annular seal and a pixel display area [seal 6], said threshold pattern having an opening connecting said pixel display area with an area provided with liquid crystal and located between said annular seal and said threshold pattern [see opening on right side of seal 6].

Per claim 2, 603 teaches a liquid crystal display device according to claim 1, wherein said threshold pattern extends substantially in parallel with at least one side of said annular seal [see figure 4].

Per claim 3, 603 teaches a liquid crystal display device according to claim 1, wherein said threshold pattern annularly extends substantially in parallel with said annular seal with a gap from said annular seal [see figure 4].

Per claim 4, 603 teaches a liquid crystal display device according to claim 1, wherein said threshold pattern extends substantially in parallel with at least one side of said annular seal with a gap from at least one side of said annular seal, and a closed space is formed between said threshold pattern and at least the one side of said annular seal except for said opening [see figure 4].

Per claim 6, 603 teaches a liquid crystal display device according to claim 1, wherein the liquid crystal is dripped on one substrate, and the annular seal has no injection hole [seal 11 lack an injection hole].

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 9/26/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that liquid crystal is not located between the two seals 11 and 6. However, figure 4 shows holes in seal 6. These holes would inherently allow liquid crystal to seep into the zone between 6 and 11.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 5 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
